

MARY ROBINSON

Love Avenue Champion - Ladson, SC

What skills do you bring to the role?

I bring 38 years as an educator to this role. Years of experience in planning, teaching, and interacting with parents, children, and administrators has helped me to be comfortable in this role. Organizing and managing people and events are skills that have helped me as well.

What makes you a good fit?

I love being with people and my skill set makes me a good fit for this role.

What do you want people to know about serving in your congregation?

I think working in this role at Grace Communion Ladson has been a blessing to me. First, having a clear direction and goal has renewed my excitement and hope for my local church. The people on my team are so talented and committed and have been easy to work with. My pastor has been supportive and enthusiastic for what the team is doing too.

What excites you about this role?

I am excited about meeting new people and bringing the “unchurched” to the “churched.” I love seeing church members excited about our events.

What are the challenges?

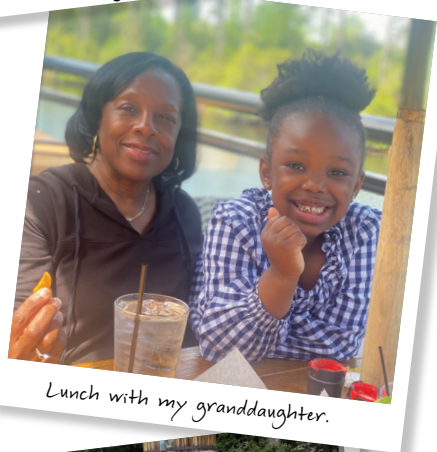

I’m challenged with the distance I live from my church community. However, God has overcome these challenges and fears and has blessed my efforts.

1.

What is something people don't know about you?

People don't know that I am always concerned and worried before each event. I spend a lot of time praying for guidance and for God to bless each event and make it what he wants it to be.

2.

What else is important for our readers to know?

It is important for readers to know that any job that God has given you to do will be a blessing for you and everyone involved. Know that what may seem like a failed event to you is God getting you ready for his future work through you. So just keep working.

3.

Why are you choosing to participate with GCI in ministry?

I have faith that God will continue to lead and guide the work that is being done through GC Ladson, and I look forward to the spiritual growth this work will bring.
