

PAM MORGAN

Operations Coordinator

Tell us about your role in GCI.

I serve as the Operations Coordinator. I work closely with the President and the US National Ministry Team as we work with pastors and members at the local level. I also work closely with our Superintendents who oversee the six regions around the world. My supervisor says I am the air traffic controller. I do my best to keep things organized, moving, and to get information to the right people in a timely way.

What skills do you bring to the role?

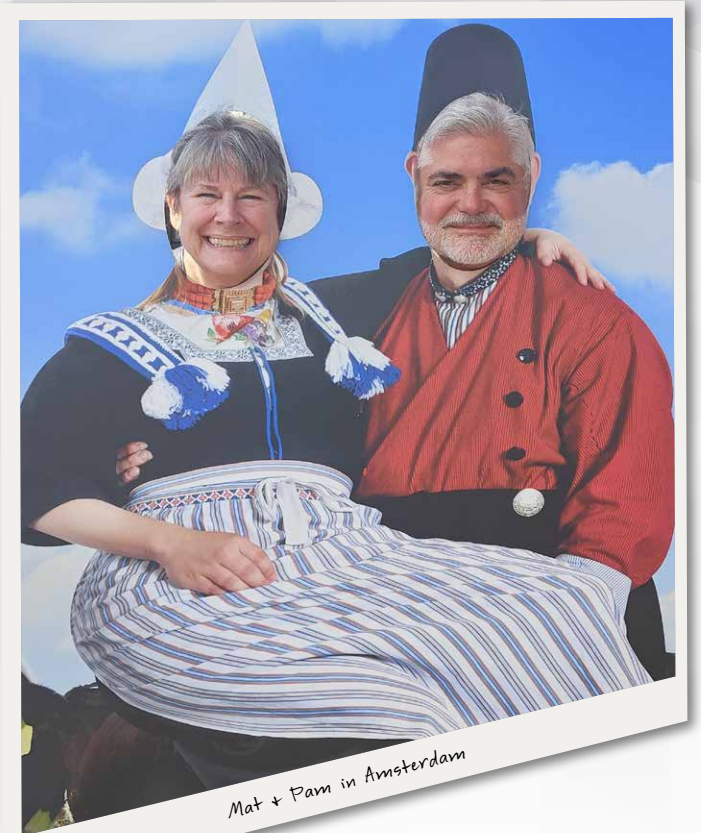

My husband says that I could organize a small country in 15 minutes, and I laugh, but there is some truth in that. Organizing is something I love to do, but most of all I like to see things organized and resources being used well with happy people, all pulling in the same direction.

What makes you a good fit?

I love GCI and our members; I see myself as a liaison to help those who need help and get them what they need when they need it from where they need it in the most efficient way possible.

What excites you about this role?

My interaction with our international sisters and brothers, and the times I get to chat with one of the Home Church (USA) members. Most of all I enjoy seeing how the Holy Spirit fits the right people and resources in the right place at the right time.

1.

What are the challenges of your role?

I am a planner, but it is not always possible to plan for every detail. Sometimes the challenge is letting go and seeing what God is doing right here and now. I must stop and be still and recognize sometimes things happen for a reason. Maybe the Holy Spirit has a better agenda.

2.

What is something people don't know about you?

I have a motorcycle license and had my own motorcycle for several years. Now I just ride on the back of my husband's motorcycle.

3.

How are you learning to be rooted in place?

My family is what roots me; if they are around, I am rooted. My husband and I always tried to make our family a priority, but as I get older, I'm more intentional about spending time with family and being present. Being present is something that I have had to learn to do better — not just being someplace but being truly present when I am in that place.

What else is important for our readers to know?

My family is the most important thing to me. I am blessed that both of my children and their spouses chose to relocate to North Carolina. Since they have been here, they have blessed us with four grandchildren. I get to see my children and grandchildren at least once a week if not more. I can't get enough time with them.
